... you'll just have to read the book to find out . . . Chapter 1 Synopsis: Ram and Shyam, siblings, have always been close with each other. Recently Shyam has gone to Delhi and since then Ram has been busy attending college. Ram's mother, Khushi, is also happy with how Ram has been adjusting to life in college. However, on the anniversary of their father's death, Ram's maternal grandparents, Gopal and Radha, are in town. On the anniversary date, Ram returns home to invite his grandparents to meet him, while at the same time, he invites Shyam as well. While the young Ram and Shyam are together in the house, nothing can compare to the pleasant and soothing atmosphere surrounding them, except for the presence of the grumpy and fuming Gopal and Radha. To ease Gopal and Radha's tension, Ram's father, Sudhir, tells his grandchildren that he is joining them in their household to help his mother. Immediately after Sudhir's news, Ram, Khushi and Shyam's grandmother, Kamla, are together to celebrate their wedding anniversary. But, their happiness is soon forgotten as Gopal and Radha show up and continue to create a negative atmosphere that is the same as when Sudhir died. To calm Gopal and Radha, Sudhir decides to take them for a drive, but on the way, their car comes into an accident and Radha and Gopal die on the spot. After the news of the accident, Khushi and Shyam, who are at home, are unsure about the future. On the other hand, Sudhir, Ram, Khushi and Shyam are left to deal with the challenge of taking care of the two grumpy and fussing grandparents. With a lot of effort and love, they make it work for them and give the sad and lonely Radha and Gopal a new lease on life. Chapter 1, Page 1 Ram and Shyam have always been close with each other.
